1.6 Background of the Audit

The awareness to empower female has been steadily increasing all over the world during the past three decades. Measures have been taken to enhance social, political and economic equity and provide access to human rights, education, health care and nutrition to female. In recent years, there has been an engendering of documents and reports, which have emphasized on gender indices to evaluate, assess and monitor the actions taken by the government and institutions with respect to the participation of female in all aspects of development. World Development Report and Human Development Report at International level, and the National Planning documents at national level are illustrations of engendered reports. In this context, there is a need to understand educational institutions, more particularly higher educational institutions, from a gender perspective. It is considered that gender equality perspective is a prerequisite for gender mainstreaming strategy which emphasizes that the needs and interest of female should be systematically pursued in the formulation and execution of all policies and programmes. The gender perspective must become a part of the process of formulating, implementing and evaluating policies and programmes which includes teaching, research, advocacy, documentation, seminars, conferences, awareness programmes, capacity building, extension and networking.

1.7 Gender Audit

A gender audit is a tool to assess and check the institutionalization of gender equality in organizations, including their policies, programs, projects and/or provision of services, structures, proceedings and budgets. The basic assumption of gender audit is that public policy impacts men and female differently. The variance stems from the different roles of female and men in the family and the lower economic status of female. The purpose of a gender audit is to lead to changes in public policy that contribute to an increase in gender equality. Unless a gender audit is done, we cannot answer the question: Is the Institution doing everything it can to improve the status of female in general and the representation of female's voices in particular? The second rationale for conducting a gender audit is that they raise female's awareness about their rights and claims and also their access to resources and opportunities. The rationale for undertaking a gender audit is that they raise female's awareness about their rights and claims and also their access to resources and opportunities. Gender Audits allow organisations to set their own houses in order and change aspects of the organizational culture which discriminate against female staff and female "beneficiaries". As a method for gender mainstreaming, gender audits help organizations identify and understand gender patterns within their composition, structures, processes, organizational culture and management of human resources, and in the design and delivery of policies and services. They also help assess the impact of organizational performance and its management on gender equality within the organization. Gender audits establish a baseline against which progress can be measured over time, identifying critical gender gaps and challenges, and making recommendations of how they can be addressed through improvements and innovations. Although there is no standard approach for carrying out a gender audit, international organisations use two main approaches: participatory gender audit and the gender integration framework. A gender audit usually includes two dimensions.

The internal gender audit monitors and assesses the relative progress made in gender mainstreaming, contributes to capacity building and collective organizational ownership for gender equality initiatives and sharpens organizational learning of gender.

The External gender audits evaluate the extent gender integration fosters the inclusion and benefits to female and men through the organization's policies, programmes, projects and services provided.

The Gender Audit undertaken by the IQAC, THLH Mahavidyalaya in association with Gender Audit Team intended to enquire into the gender stability within the institution.

1.8 Objectives

CHAPTER III

GENDERWISE ENROLLMENT AT UG LEVEL:

The college offers Programmes like B.A., B.Sc.. Below is the list of students' year wise enrolled during the last five years: (2018-19 to 2022-23)

Number of students enrolled for different courses in academic year 2018-19 is given in

Table No. 3.0.1 Gender-wise details of students enrolled for different courses

Year	B.A Honours		B.Sc. Honours		B.A General		B.Sc. General

2018-19	74	112	20	4	326	362	3	2

From the above Figures it is clear that not only the number of students enrolled in BA honours is relatively stable, but also it is note-worthy that the ratio of admission of female students is much higher than that of male students and the ratio is increasing every year which is a success story for the institute. On the other hand, the admission number of General BA students has continued to increase and it is observed that in the session 2018-19 the ratio of female students is more than male students but in the subsequent years the ratio of female students has slightly decreased compared to male students but this ratio has remained almost the same since then.

From the above figure it is clear that the admission rate in the case of science students has decreased dismally and it is clearly perceived that the ratio of female students is much less than male students although this ratio gap has been reduced continuously but this ratio gap has increased again in the session 2022-23. The participation ratio for female students in the B.Sc. General program remained relatively stable for five years. In the case of General students of Science, the situation has worsened as in this case the number of admissions is very low and the ratio of female to male students is very high and this difference continues to increase and it is seen that in 2021-22 session no female students were admitted in general session.

3.1 CATEGORY WISE GENDER BALANCE:

Year	General		SC		ST		OBC

2018-19	216	264	111	99	25	27	71	100

The figure above clearly shows that there has been a gradual increase in the number of students admitted to the college by caste category. Although the number of students admitted in general category has decreased compared to the 2018-19 session, it has increased in subsequent years after 2019-20. On the other hand, the interesting fact is that the admission ratio of girl students in general and OBC categories is much higher than that of male students. In SC and ST category, the ratio of female to male students was lower initially, but in subsequent years, the ratio of female students to male students increased, which is a very promising figure. In other words, overall female admission ratio has increased continuously. It indicates that the female student enrollment in our college is commendable.

REMARK:

The data shows that during 2018-19 and 2022-23 there is more or equal uniform admissions. During five years, there is remarkable increase in the admission of OBC female students. It is interesting to note that during last five years remarkable increase in the admission of OBC female students and average admission ratio of SC & ST female students, but the admission of GEN female students are decreasing which should take in consideration by the institute.

The above table indicates that the female students' enrollment in the department of Bengali the ratio of female is higher than Men. There is a remarkable difference in the ratio of the number of female as against the number of men. It indicates that the female student enrollment in our college is commendable.

REMARK:

From the above Figure 3.2.4a it is clear that the number of student in enrollment is decreasing every year. It is a matter of great concern, though one gratifying aspect is that in all caste categories, female students outnumber male students in admission.

On the other hand, from Figure 3.2.4b, the ratio of admission of female students is understood. In this regard, the proportion of students belonging to SC and General category has been increasing gradually in recent years but the proportion of students belonging to OBC and ST category has been decreasing gradually which needs to be looked into by the college authorities.

On the other hand, if we look at Figure No. 3.2.5b, the ratio of admission rate of female students, it will be seen that the ratio of female students is continuously increasing. This achievement of the Department of Geography in terms of student enrollment has set an example for the entire college.

On the other hand figure 3.2.6b, looking at the second figure, it can be seen that the enrollment rate or participation ratio of female students is changing unexpectedly every year, that is, in some years, the ratio of female students is higher and in some years, the ratio of male students is higher.

It is seen here, that most of these schemes are availed by women. It reflects the high support meted out by the college to female towards the completion of their education.

6. Gender Sensitization Initiatives

Gender sensitizing is about changing behavior and instilling empathy into the views that we hold about our own and the other genders." It helps people in "examining their personal attitudes and beliefs and questioning the 'realities' they thought they know the need for this sensitivity has been felt and realized through times immemorial and in almost all kinds of human existence, across the globe. Recent discourses focus upon the need to sensitize gender issues on campus as many believe that education is the catalyst for change. Educational spaces instill thought and make one have a perception that they believe. Instilling positive thoughts on gender issues will enable and enhance the future population from practicing gender discrimination. Gender issues can be sensitized in campuses through various activities like debates, discussions, seminars, theatrical performances and other forms of arts. This can also be done through the gender sensitizing cells, gender sensitization committees and redressal forum, compulsory courses in the syllabus on gender sensitization at all levels, organization of Workshops and seminars etc.

The College has constituted a Gender Cell which has been functioning successfully since its inception. Internal Complaints Committee has been formed to redress the problems coming under the purview of Sexual harassment at workplace Act, 2013. The College apart from these also has provided support to organize programs on gender issues.

8. The Grievance Redressal Cell has a time bound action program displayed on the website.

THLH Mahavidyalaya aims to provide a comfortable, productive, safe and ethical work environment to all the students and staff members. The college has a robust mechanism of handling grievances of students, who can approach the college through various modes without any fear of bias or judgment. To ensure these regular interactions and discussions are conducted with students regarding any problems they may be facing so that they may be timely addressed and catered to. Students are sensitized that they must bring up any grievance they may be facing at college level to the teachers or the college administration as they may find comfortable. The college focuses on immediate redressal/ resolution of the complaints to foster an environment conducive to the development of stake holders. To ensure an active and judicious compliance mechanism, the college has constituted an apt grievance procedure outlined as under:

A help desk has been installed outside the Principal's office which students can approach on all working days during office hours. There is also a provision of grievance post box at the installed in the campus where students can post their grievances anonymously. There is a fully operational Internal Quality Assurance Cell (I.Q.A.C.) in the college which conducts regular meetings with the students through the respective class representatives ensuring all grievances whether academic in nature or otherwise are brought to the notice of the college. It also creates confidence and trust in the students that there problems no matter how small they may be, will be well received and reciprocated by the college. Complaints can also be shared online under the tabs of GRIEVANCE with email I.D.'s https://www.thlhm.com/home/grivance_redressal_cell.

The college has an Internal Complaint Committee (I.C.C.) on lines of the Vishakha guidelines as per U.G.C. Regulation which handles the complaints related to sexual harassment at college. With the objective of timely redressal of complaints of varied constitutions a special Admissions Grievance Committee is also created to address grievances related to admissions and it works 24/7 during the admission period to help the students seeking admissions. On similar lines Examination Committee is constituted to resolve examination related grievances of the students. The main premise of developing an elaborate and multi dimensional grievance handling procedure of college is to ensure maximum reach of students and staff members who may find it easy to approach the requisite forum for a timely action and resolution, as the college firmly believes in creating a positive work environment where all stake holders co exist with respect and responsibility towards each other.

In a college, the syllabus gets updated to reflect the current reality. It is necessary to introduce the contribution of women in different disciplines to create gender sensitization among young students. It is a recent trend that marks the disciplines to integrate new knowledge about women. The Curriculum of Arts and Science courses are reviewed to observe whether the current syllabus contains women and gender-related papers and units in various courses. It can be seen above that the curriculum has integrated gender-sensitive topics in the curriculum to ensure the gender sensitization of the students.

11. Best Practices and the Way Forward

The Gender audit conducted indicated that both men and women students as well as the staff felt that the campus was generally gender sensitive. However, over protectionism was a tendency they felt was at times inhibiting the freedom of the female students. Sensitivity to the dignity of the individual irrespective of any category—sexual/religious/gender/linguistic/caste, etc. was something that the respondents stressed on. Often the harasser himself doesn't know the real intentions behind the act committed by him. There is a need to sensitize not just the students but also the other stakeholders. Often our deeply ingrained ethos emerge in the form of either harassers or benevolent protectors. This needs to be addressed within the institution by the authority in order to realise the goals of the Institute itself. Best practices

1. The Institute has maintained gender segregated data on most of the issues especially those related to the students which is a good practice.
2. The Institute authority has supported the seminar and workshops conducted by the various Departments and CWS on women's issues.
3. The Institute has regularly supported women employees in terms of granting them maternity leave or childcare leave.
4. The Institute has an Internal Complaints Committee which is very active.
5. The general environment is gender friendly as no case of discrimination emerged from the survey questionnaire circulated among the students and staff.
6. The students survey indicate a dedicated easily approachable faculty who aid the students, as a result of which the respondents felt no barriers to their educational progress due to their sex. The survey indicates a gender friendly environment within the classrooms.
7. The Mentoring system followed within the Departments have helped in making the environment enabling to progression in higher education.
8. The Institute has put up Display Boards where the contact officials of the Anti-Ragging Committee are given.
9. The Institute administration gives first priority to the student scholarships that are availed by the students from the backward segments. 10. The Institute authorities are easily approachable by the students.

12. Policy Recommendations :

The gender audit team after going through the exercise considers the following as the major recommendations to be made to the Institute.

For the Administration

1. The Institute authority should actively integrate gender concerns within its policy, programmes and action.
2. The Institute should consider the case of gender balance in its recruitment policy. In the Science faculty the gender ratio is very poor. Similarly is the case of the Officers and Staff. The Institute should pay careful attention in its recruitment policy for ensuring gender balance.
3. The Institute should introduce female security personnel in the Campus and hostels in particular.

Finance and Departments

1. All the Departments should be encouraged to maintain a gender segregated data.
2. The Finance Branch should be directed to carry out gender budgeting and gender audit annually so that the Institute, if required can provide the gender statistics especially related to the salary component, the amount of money generated and spent on women employees within no time.
3. The Finance Branch should also maintain a gender disaggregated data of the number of application sent by the male and female faculty in terms of research project proposals, request for funding for participation in seminars, inside and outside the country. The approval/rejection record should also be maintained in a gender disaggregated form.

Gender sensitive Facilities:

- 1 The toilets should be made women friendly as many women faculties have joined different Departments, as well as differently abled friendly.
- 2 The number of Hostels for women should be increased for UG
- 3 More CCTV cameras should be installed inside the campus at vantage points.
- 4 More Lights should be installed inside the Campus.
- 5 Incentives to be provided to women so that they are encouraged to join the Science stream.
- 6 Some schemes like Earn and Learn scheme could be initiated for the poor students so that they can work and pay for their education.
- 7 More initiatives for the awareness of the rights of women and gender sensitivity should be taken up centrally by the IQAC.
- 8 A separate gymnasium should be constructed for women with all the facilities.
- 9 A separate post of Counsellor needs to be created and a trained certified counsellor needs to be recruited to handle the pressure.
